1/10/68 - Phone Roger Lewis this p.m. to hope leaving for Dallas to get to finish the article of a young woman on his staff for [illegible] writing is the delinquency of a minor. In this case Barbara Reid killed the last night it was a 17-year-old girl named Carlos Lovell to be related to Fidel. Roger said this was the worst, that the girl was 16, that it happened in Hermosa Beach, where a bomb was not packed but the woman pipe in a box, not loose, has failed.

On the Negro, 17-year-old daughter a boy of Roger and she is in (and out) of school frequently makes occasional contributions, but he helps her wages on the most part.

He says he began with but $24, on the first issue of "Bugle". He is now $2,000 in debt, he says. He has bought equipment but is not in a position to use - for example, can't [illegible] machine. That justifies the typing - but he has no one to operate it, so he pays us just if and typing! So, he has possible capital tie up, interest or debt to pay for that thing.

He says this is the bad season because the tourists have stopped coming & that when he had his largest circulation it was the Negro he needed to break down. Due financial pressure for payment was not an encouraging one, so he borrowed some of Tommy's money. Of it was evident consult with him. He also has some "commercial" writing for which he wants an agent in N.Y. Here also I could not help him.

When some months ago I told me Aunt Linda was going to take an undergraduate course, I wondered if she was speaking in truth. When I left not Rue Christ Page. I was all with more confidence.

It was Barbara who persuaded Tommy Brew Lin, but I loaned Page around hundred dollars. This seems quite unlike Tommy.

Kenyon & Eastlake. He has his own shirt, "Zenarchy," instead of "Zen" and "anarchy."
